HEAD-ON COLLISION.

A head-on collision occurred early yesterday morning between two freight trains on the Manassas Branch of the Southern Railway which resulted in the killing of two men and the injury of several others. The collision took place at Pugh's Run, one and a half miles north of Woodstock. The victims of the accident are:

Amos D. Johnson, 35 years old, engineer of the northbound train; residence 1005 Duke street, Alexandria.

T. Judson Jones, 28 years old, fireman of the northbound train; residence, Manassas.

David W. Tuck, of Strasburg, engineer of the southbound train, collar-bone broken.

George E. Rohr, of Strasburg, conductor of the southbound train, bruised.

Ernest Hammond, of Strasburg, fireman of the southbound train, badly sprained a knee.

An unidentified colored man, who was in charge of a race horse, is missing. One Grant miraculously escaped with his life, as he was riding on the pilot of one of the ill-fated engines, and jumped in time to save his life.

A report which had been circulated in this city to the effect that J. Claude Yochum, living at 1019 Queen street, conductor of the northbound train, had been killed was untrue.

Engineer Johnson is survived by his wife and two young children. Fireman Jones leaves a wife and several children. The collision is said to have been due to a misinterpretation of orders.

The northbound freight is a fast train, and at the point where the collision occurred was traveling down grade at a high rate of speed. The southbound train is a local freight, and being headed uphill, was running slowly.

Both engines and eight freight cars were demolished, a number of cars were derailed, and the tracks were torn up for a distance of nearly 75 yards.

The engines came together on a high embankment, seventy yards north of the bridge, which is 112 feet high. A number of cars remained on the bridge. Both engines remained on the roadbed, but were badly smashed. Seven cars were broken up.

Soon after the accident Superintendent Peyton left Alexandria with a wrecking train for the scene of the collision, and the work of clearing the track was prosecuted as rapidly as possible.

The remains of Engineer Johnson arrived in this city shortly after noon today, and were conveyed to the residence, northwest corner of Duke and Patrick streets.

WEDDING IN WASHINGTON.

Last evening at 8:30 o'clock Miss Carolyn Adele Boucher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. X. Boucher, was married to Mr. J. A. Stutenburgh, of this city. The ceremony took place at the Shrine of the Sacred Heart, in Washington, the pastor, Rev. Joseph McCre, officiating, assisted by Rev. Father Eckenrode. The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums, palms, and southern smilax, the pews for the bride party being marked off with white satin ribbons, ending in cornucopias of white flowers. The bride's gown was of ivory Mechlin lace, over satin of the same shade. A picture hat of white, with white plumes, and a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley completing her costume. Mrs. J. H. Pilling, the matron of honor and sister of the bride, wore a gown of pink satin and rose point, with big picture hat trimmed with pink plumes. She carried chrysanthemums, tied with long streamers of pink tulle. The little maid of honor, Dorothy Boucher, wore a dainty dress of hat and white lingerie, and carried a basket of pink roses. Mrs. F. X. Boucher, mother of the bride, wore black Chantilly lace, while Mrs. Annie Stutenburgh, the bridegroom's mother, wore a gown of black silk voile. Mr. T. A. Stutenburgh, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. M. J. Boucher, of Washington, Mr. A. K. Warfield, Mr. J. G. Graham, Mr. R. O. Robbins, Mr. R. H. Garlin and Mr. Seymour J. Stutenburgh, all of Alexandria.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. The decorations in the drawing room were pink roses and palms, while in the dining room were white chrysanthemums and ferns.

Mr. and Mrs. Stutenburgh will take an extended Northern trip, the bride traveling in a tailored gown of catwabs broadcloth, with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Stutenburgh will live at 1324 Columbia road.

A number of Alexandrians attended the wedding and were prepared to give the bride and groom a grand "send-off" when they left the house for the train, but the latter having been apprized of their friends' intention mysteriously disappeared.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

Dr. Moore, the coroner, this morning held an inquest over the remains of William O'Brien, who died at the Alexandria Hospital on Sunday night from being shot by Philip Rush last Thursday night. O'Brien, it will be remembered, was in Rush's bedroom at the time of the shooting.

The jury was composed of Messrs. Thos. L. Carter (foreman), R. Lee Field, G. H. Harlow, P. B. Ward, J. R. Edeleo and H. L. Post.

Dr. Smith, who made the autopsy, testified as to the nature of the injuries sustained by the deceased. He stated that the skull had been fractured above the right ear, and that considerable pus had formed. He also testified that he removed a piece of a bullet from the base of the brain below the opening of the skull.

Dr. Smith was followed by Dr. Powell, who attended O'Brien after he had been placed in the Alexandria Hospital, and who described the nature of his injuries.

Chief Goods and Officers Gill, Young and Knight were next examined. Messrs. Gill and Young told of arresting O'Brien and placing him in the hospital, and Chief Goods and Officer Knight identified the deceased as O'Brien.

Mr. and Mrs. Rush and Mrs. Kate Posey, Mrs. Rush's mother, followed. Their testimony was substantially as published in last Friday's Gazette. O'Brien was discovered in the house and when he made toward Rush the latter fired several times at him.

The jury subsequently returned the following verdict:

"That the said William O'Brien having entered the room of the said Philip Rush with the intention of committing robbery, came to his death as the result of pistol shot wounds inflicted by said Philip Rush. We thoroughly exonerate said Philip Rush and commend him for his coolness and nerve in protecting his home in case of an emergency."

Some people insist that William O'Brien was the proper name of the dead man, although one of his cousins maintains that it should be written O'Brien. When the clothing of the deceased had been removed the letters "W. J. B." were found on his breast.

AMUSEMENTS.

Those who are fond of amusement after the sun sets find plenty of it right here at home, for no managers are trying harder to please the amusement lovers than those of the three motion picture houses. The large crowds which nightly attend these houses manifest their delight at the entertainment furnished. Especially good shows are on this week in each house.

At the Alexandria Amusement Company tonight one of the most thrilling motion pictures will be exhibited. Those who have seen it pronounce it great. It is entitled "Voice from the Dead," picturing as it does a fiery furnace, also exhibits a terrible strike in a steel plant where one of the owners was killed. Before his death, however, he crawls to a graphophone which is used for recording letters and speaks in it. Later this machine is used as damaging evidence against the guilty party. This is a great show. There will be other good pictures.

The Elite Picture Company will have an entire change of pictures tonight. "Pioneers Crossing the Plains in 49," "Tracked by a Dog," "Joyous Surprise" and other subjects is the programme for tonight.
